Answer:	Our learning and dissemination partner, the Joule Centre, will develop methods and processes to ensure continuous collection of data and provide extensive dissemination via a variety of channels. The communication channels to be used will include: <ol style="list-style-type: none"><li>1. A dedicated Project website, which will be available from the commencement of the Project and updated weekly throughout the Project time frame.</li><li>2. The publication of white papers, which will describe specific areas of the Project to-date and will target publications on at least a quarterly basis for the duration of the Project.</li><li>3. A series of public and DNO specific seminars to enable direct interaction with all interested parties. We intend to host an initial event to launch public awareness of the Project which will be followed by subsequent update events on a six monthly cycle throughout the Project.</li></ol> These will be enhanced by our attendance at specific and targeted industry conferences where we will
